

WATCH AND LEARN

Watching TV to learn is not the same as watching for fun. These tips will help you to watch actively so that you remember and learn better.

BEFORE WATCHING

- To get the most, prepare before you watch.
- Check out the schedule for the week on www.wozamatrics.co.za
- Know what subjects and topics are coming up.
- Plan your week's studying.
- Read the relevant section in your notes, textbook or other resources before watching.
- Ask yourself these questions:
 - ▶ What do I know already?
 - ▶ What don't I know?
 - ▶ What do I hope to learn?
- Make a mind map of the key topics and sub-topics.
- Look at past papers to see the kinds of questions usually asked.

WHILE WATCHING

- Sit up. Be active and alert.
- Switch off your phone.
- Put a table in front of you to make notes (if you can).
- Have your textbook or workbook open on the relevant section.
- Make simple notes using headings, mind maps, key questions.
- Before you tune out, write down the top four things you have learnt.
- Write down anything you still don't understand.
- Set up a WhatsApp study group with friends.
- Arrange to watch with friends if you can.
- After the programme, WhatsApp each other. Set quizzes to test one another.
